30-Day Structured Meal Plan

A practical, beginner friendly digital plan built around common UK supermarket ingredients, balanced meals, flexible portions and realistic consistency.

30 days of meals

Weekly shopping lists

Prep guidance

Hydration reminders

Flexible portions

How to use this plan

This plan is designed to remove daily decision fatigue without making food feel rigid. Follow it closely when you want structure, or use the swaps and portion guide to adapt meals around appetite, training, budget and preference.

1. Choose your portion size

Use the portion guide below rather than forcing exact calories. Start moderate, then adjust based on hunger, energy and progress.

2. Shop once or twice per week

Each weekly list is grouped by supermarket aisle so it is easier to scan on mobile.

3. Prep the small things

Cook one protein, one carbohydrate and one tray of vegetables ahead where possible. Keep sauces simple for flavour without fuss.

Simple plate guide

Use this as a practical starting point. If your goal is fat loss, begin with the lower end of the carbohydrate and fat portions. If your goal is performance or muscle gain, add a little more carbohydrate around training.

Protein

1 to 2 palm-sized portions per main meal. Examples: chicken, turkey, salmon, tuna, eggs, Greek yoghurt, tofu, beans or lentils.

Carbohydrate

1 fist-sized portion at most meals. Examples: oats, potatoes, rice, pasta, wraps, couscous or wholemeal bread.

Vegetables and fibre

Aim for 2 fist-sized portions of vegetables or salad at lunch and dinner where possible. Add fruit, beans, oats and wholegrains for extra fibre.

This is general wellness guidance, not medical advice. Speak with a GP, registered dietitian or qualified clinician before changing your diet if you have a medical condition, are pregnant or breastfeeding, take medication, have allergies, or have a history of disordered eating.

MEAL PLAN

Your 30-day structure

Meals are varied but intentionally familiar. The aim is consistency, not perfection: repeat meals you enjoy, swap proteins when needed, and keep seasoning flexible.

Week 1 - Build the routine

Focus: breakfast consistency and simple packed lunches.

Day 1

BREAKFAST

Greek yoghurt with oats, berries and chia seeds.

LUNCH

Chicken salad wrap with spinach, peppers and hummus.

DINNER

Salmon with new potatoes, broccoli and lemon yoghurt dressing.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

Apple slices with peanut butter.

PREP NOTE

Cook extra potatoes for Day 2 lunch.

Day 2

BREAKFAST

Scrambled eggs on wholemeal toast with grilled tomatoes.

LUNCH

Tuna and potato salad with cucumber, sweetcorn and yoghurt dressing.

DINNER

Turkey chilli with brown rice and mixed salad.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

Cottage cheese with carrot sticks.

PREP NOTE

Freeze one chilli portion for a busy evening.

Day 3

BREAKFAST

Protein porridge with banana and cinnamon.

LUNCH

Lentil and vegetable soup with seeded bread.

DINNER

Chicken stir-fry with egg noodles and mixed vegetables.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

Skyr yoghurt with berries.

PREP NOTE

Use frozen stir-fry vegetables to keep effort low.

Day 4

BREAKFAST

Overnight oats with apple, yoghurt and flaxseed.

LUNCH

Falafel couscous bowl with salad and tzatziki.

DINNER

Lean beef or bean bolognese with wholewheat pasta.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

Boiled eggs and cherry tomatoes.

PREP NOTE

Make two bolognese portions for Day 6.

Day 5

BREAKFAST

Berry smoothie with milk, oats and protein yoghurt.

LUNCH

Chicken, avocado and salad sandwich on wholegrain bread.

DINNER

Cod with sweet potato wedges, peas and yoghurt tartare.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

Mixed nuts and a pear.

PREP NOTE

Cut extra sweet potato wedges before baking.

Day 6

BREAKFAST

Mushroom omelette with spinach and toast.

LUNCH

Prawn or tofu rice bowl with cucumber and edamame.

DINNER

Leftover bolognese with salad and extra vegetables.

SNACK OR ADD-ON

MEAL PREP

Low-effort prep system

You do not need a full Sunday batch-cook to succeed. Prep the pieces that reduce friction: washed salad, cooked protein, ready carbohydrates and two simple sauces.

1

Wash and store produce

Wash salad leaves, chop cucumber and peppers, and keep fruit visible. The easier option usually wins.

2

Cook one flexible protein

Roast chicken, turkey mince, tofu, lentils or boiled eggs can become wraps, bowls, salads or leftovers.

3

Prepare a simple carbohydrate

Cook rice, potatoes, pasta or couscous. Cool leftovers quickly and store safely in the fridge.

4

Keep flavour ready

Use lemon, herbs, salsa, yoghurt dressing, hummus, light pesto or reduced-salt stock to keep meals enjoyable.

EASY SWAPS

Adapt without starting again

Use these swaps when ingredients are out of stock, budget changes, or you want a vegetarian option.

Chicken

SIMPLE SWAPS

Turkey, tofu, eggs, tuna, prawns, beans or lentils.

BEST USE

Wraps, bowls, salads, stir-fries and traybakes.

Rice

SIMPLE SWAPS

Potatoes, couscous, pasta, wraps, pittas or microwave grains.

BEST USE

Busy evenings and packed lunches.

Fresh vegetables

SIMPLE SWAPS

Frozen mixed veg, peas, spinach, stir-fry bags or tinned tomatoes.

BEST USE

Reducing waste and keeping fibre consistent.

Greek yoghurt

SIMPLE SWAPS

Skyr, natural yoghurt, cottage cheese or dairy-free high-protein yoghurt.

BEST USE

Breakfasts, sauces, snacks and lighter dressings.

CONSISTENCY TIPS

Make the plan easier to finish

Hydration reminder

Keep a water bottle visible. Tea, coffee, lower-fat milk and sugar-free drinks can also contribute to fluid intake.

Progress marker

Track energy, hunger, digestion, sleep and consistency. Weight is only one data point and can change day to day.

Busy day rule

If the planned meal feels too hard, build a simple plate: protein, carbohydrate, vegetables and flavour. That still counts.
